

A Cedar in Old Lake

Magnanimous branches towered on high,
Its water nourished it,
Deep springs made it prosper,
Streams flourished around its base.
Majestic in beauty, abundant waters,
All beast of the earth
Gave birth under its branches,
All the birds of the sky, nested in its boughs.
Great leaf, lived in its shade,
Unrivalled in its beauty,
Exuberance equal its boughs.
Imperious trees liken to eden,
An effervescence nature,
Haven from the luscious channels of lake.
